

MEDICAL MALPRACTICE DEFENSE

Gross McGinley's Medical Malpractice Defense Group represents health care providers in patient care matters. Our team of experienced attorneys, devoted paralegals, and numerous support staff review all relevant medical records, work with expert witnesses, and devise optimal legal solutions for hospital clients in cases involving malpractice liability.

Gross McGinley's medical malpractice defense attorneys regularly work with risk management teams to investigate claims and handle complex matters of law and medicine.

Our medical malpractice defense team stays informed of the latest trends in the medical malpractice arena and are prepared to defend all types of health care providers including:

- Hospitals
- Long Term Care Facilities
- Group Homes
- Laboratories
- Home Health Agencies
- Hospice Providers
- Oral Surgeons and Dentists

Our attorneys are highly skilled litigators, recognized for their successes in the legal community as well as their abilities to negotiate favorable settlements.
